

National Conference on Ministry to the Armed Forces

MISSION

NCMAF connects member faith groups with military and VA chaplaincies, and celebrates the religious diversity of the United States of America.

VISION

NCMAF will advocate for the First Amendment and provide a unified voice on religious freedom and religious diversity.

P. O. Box 7572
Arlington, VA 22207-9998
703-489-8918
www.ncmaf.net

Davis, Lance

Executive Committee Member-At-Large

Rev. Lance Davis is the executive minister of Develop Leaders and Ordered Ministry. He entered ministry in 1993, serving on the staff of two prominent Chicago-area congregations. Subsequently, he became a church planter, founding what is now New Zion Covenant Church in Dolton, Illinois. The congregation joined the ECC in 2012. He was elected to his current role of Executive Minister in 2018. In this role, Lance is responsible for the care, development and discipline of nearly 2,500 pastors of the Evangelical Covenant Church. In addition to pastoral ministry, Lance has been instrumental in launching numerous nonprofit community-service organizations, including Bezalel Affordable Housing in Dolton and TransAtlantic Water Development in Ghana, West Africa. In Lance's 30 years of ministry, there have been two consistent themes: the development of Christian leaders and Christian community impact. He holds a BA in business administration from Trinity College and an MDiv from North Park Theological Seminary. Most importantly, Lance is married to his high school sweetheart, Kara (an accomplished physician and author) and they have four awesome adult children (Grace, Andrew, Lance and Natalie).